John Davies (CEO of Hong Bao International) launches premium quality b2b china suppliers portal.

PremiumSuppliers.com offers a quality alternative to online product sourcing in China. An exclusive directory of China suppliers who have international certification for products and/or systems. As well as an 'industry-first' supplier review feature allowing the interaction of users.

PR9.NET June 10, 2007 - Hong Kong SAR – John Davies today announced the launch of PremiumSuppliers.com. PremiumSuppliers.com is the 'new kid on the block' in B2B China sourcing industry, but it is planning to shake things up with new and advanced features that other sites are not currently providing. One example is the supplier review feature. Everyone is skeptical when sourcing products from the other side of the world especially if they have not been to China or even more-so if they have. As the popularity of online product review sites grow and the popularity of online sourcing sites grow we have decided to create the best of both with online supplier reviews.

The main difference between PremiumSuppliers.com and all other similar sites currently available is that PremiumSuppliers.com only accepts and publishes China suppliers who have achieved international certification for systems (such as ISO9001:2000) and/or product certification such as (UL / CE / CSA etc.). This makes our site the premium destination for overseas suppliers seeking quality products made in China.

John Davies, CEO of Hong Bao International said "PremiumSuppliers.com was created to fulfill a growing need for sourcing real quality suppliers from China. With our additional features such as unbiased supplier reviews we hope to give our visitors a more interactive experience while offering a superior quality directory compared to other products currently on the market."
