AXIGEN, the professional mail server vendor, announced the closure of the first business partnership with an Indian company, Business Softwares & Solutions.

PR9.NET July 04, 2007 - Bucharest, Romania – AXIGEN (<http://www.axigen.com>), the professional mail server vendor, announced today the closure of the first business partnership with an Indian company, Business Softwares & Solutions (<http://www.bssit.net>).

Present on the IT&C market since 1999, Business Softwares & Solutions provides complex software and hardware solutions, along with implementation, marketing and technical support services to companies of all sizes, from home offices to large corporations. The company's area of expertise includes IT security, network management, communication and messaging.

"Based on our experience of providing complex IT solutions, we are convinced AXIGEN is one of the best integrated product we could offer to the companies we are working with. AXIGEN's past record of outstanding software delivery and its present manner of operation, of always adapting to current market needs and offering comprehensive messaging solutions, gives us immense confidence that our collaboration AXIGEN will result in seeing many satisfied customers on the Indian market," said Jayanta Sen, Business Softwares & Solutions CEO.

"We are really pleased to have closed such a valuable partnership that will place AXIGEN on the powerful Indian market. Our partner's extensive knowledge of the local market, will help us build awareness for our cutting-edge product range and adapt the AXIGEN solutions to meet all current requirements of the Indian business environment", concluded Oana Bornaz, AXIGEN CEO.

Based on a multiplatform architecture, the AXIGEN Mail Server, now at version 4.0, runs on several Linux and BSD distributions, on Solaris and PowerPC and signed technology partnerships with Sun Microsystems, RedHat, IBM and Avira. Currently, AXIGEN products are distributed by a network of 90 partners worldwide, as the distribution network has been increased by 60 percent in the first five months of 2007.

The AXIGEN Mail Server has recently won the ServerWatch 2007 Product Excellence Award for the Communications Server category, after having competed with four other messaging solutions – Zimbra, CommuniGate, Merak and Lotus.
