Premier Lighting is delighted to announce a strategic involvement in Tempe's newest Urban Living Condominium Project, which will see an increased supply of contemporary lighting fixtures over the coming months.

PR9.NET July 14, 2007 - Glendale, AZ - Arizona based Premier Lighting have announced their involvement in Tempe's latest Urban Living Condominium Project. The project will see Premier Lighting supplying lighting fixtures in conjunction with Trammel Crow Residential over the coming months, before the showcase project is set to go on tour.

The announcement comes as an extension of Premier Lighting's ongoing commitment to providing innovative, quality lighting solutions to consumer and commercial buyers, whilst maintaining affordable, contemporary lighting solutions.

Chris from Premier Lighting (<http://www.shoppremier.com/>) said they are delighted to be involved in Tempe's latest Condominium project: "As lighting specialists, we pride ourselves in making a creative difference in the market, and through building on our existing strategic partnerships, we hope to build the profile of Premier Lighting whilst also provide the latest in lighting technology throughout the course of the project."

The project, to be illuminated from Premier Lighting's Premier Collection, will go on tour throughout 2008.
