PR9.NET July 31, 2007 - DETROIT, Mich. - HydroWarehouse.com, an online distributor of discount hydroponics supplies, has introduced the Future-Brite line of digital electronic ballasts to its online catalog.

Future-Brite produces a range of electronic ballasts which are designed to improve lamp life by up to three times while saving energy.

Other benefits of the Future-Brite digital electronic ballasts include consistent wattage output and safer start-up procedures due to the built-in electronics.

The Future-Brite digital electronic ballasts come in 400 watt and 600 watt versions. The 400 watt model costs $260 USD (plus shipping); the 600 watt version costs $299 USD (plus shipping).

Power for both models is 99% efficient. Both have built-in axial fans for cooling and built-in short circuit protection with no wiring necessary. The Future-Brite models have no flickering, which results in perfect illumination.

The products are proven and tested to over 200,000 switchings.

HydroWarehouse.com's secure online catalog features the Future-Brite products, as well as more than 1,000 other hydroponic products, hydroponic systems and hydroponic equipment and gardening products, all to allow customers to garden year-round inside their homes. The online shopping cart provides state-of-the-art features to ensure security and convenience.

HydroWarehouse.com offers the best in hydroponic products as well as world-class customer service at warehouse prices. If you have any questions or would like to place an order, visit www.hydrowarehouse.com.
