

Forex618.net gets a new makeover

forex618.net, August 01, 2007

URL: <http://www.pr9.net/business/financial/6036august.html>

London, UK, 1st of June, 2007: Forex618.net has sported a brand-new look of late. This leading online currency trading signals provider who offers its traders safe and profitable Forex trading signals and analysis, has redesigned its websites keeping in tune with the latest trends in the international currency market.

PR9.NET August 01, 2007 - London, UK - Forex618.net has sported a brand-new look of late. This leading online currency trading signals provider who offers its traders safe and profitable Forex trading signals and analysis, has redesigned its websites keeping in tune with the latest trends in the international currency market. The new form of this online FX trading site has not only a fresh look which is visually impressive but also some exciting features and special deals that have apparently been introduced to allow more traders to join its existing client list of 144 subscribers.

James De Wet, CEO of Forex618 explains, "The prime reason behind this redesign was to make our site look more professional and visitor-friendly. Besides, a visit to our site will tell you about our new range of services which offer you great options to choose from. Our online forex trading broker system has been meticulously developed taking all the possible forex trading factors into account. That's the reason why we've been a roaring success in the global currency exchange market today."

The newly designed Forex618.net also offers some of the very useful and critical information on the latest trends of different foreign currencies such as Dollar and Euro in the international currency market. These currency information which are being published in its special articles and blogs regularly, have proved to be extremely valuable for its own customers and many other online currency traders around the world as well.

"Staying updated on the trends and values of different currencies is really the key to online forex trading success. We believe in informing our clients about all the currency signals and forex trading signals so that they can choose the right time to enter and exit the currency market. Although, our specially designed online currency trading signals packages do the trick for our clients, we provide useful currency information to our visitors as well." adds James.

Forex618 is currently running a one-month free-trial offer which ensures 100% money back guarantee if the online currency traders do not make money during that period. Now that's what we call a real online currency trading signals provider, eh?

Log on to www.forex618.net for more information and the right forex trading signals.

###

About forex618.net

James was born in London, UK in 1966. He was schooled at Woodridge College in South Africa, a boy's boarding school, and achieved academic colors. He completed undergraduate studies in Mathematics and Biochemistry at the University of Port Elizabeth before going on to study Engineering and Statistics at the University of Leeds, UK where he graduated on both occasions with first class degrees.

Phone: +44.8707476550
Website: <http://www.forex618.net>
E-Mail: forex618@gmail.com
Address: 68 Forestwood Dr
Buderim
QLD
5778
AU
+44.8707476550