Executive Gaming Monthly steps up environmental protection efforts by launching new line of eco-friendly products.

PR9.NET November 13, 2007 - Los Angeles, CA - Known as a casino game of the month club, Executive Gaming Monthly (EGM) is releasing their own line of environmentally friendly casino gaming furniture. EGM is stepping into the future and going green while staying black. Taking an innovative step, EGM Green is the first company to develop and design casino tables, gaming seating and luxury lounge furniture that is completely green. EGM is no longer just a design firm; it is now a green consulting, design, and manufacturing firm meeting all the needs of the hotel and casino market.

EGM Green is a venture of Executive Gaming Monthly to bring 100% Eco-friendly gaming products to casino and luxury markets. These products include poker tables, black jack tables, roulette tables, mini-baccarat, baccarat and more that are all made out of Eco-friendly materials. Additionally a variety of seating products are offered. EGM Green also makes luxury lounge furniture for any Eco-friendly environment.

According to EGM Green, applying sustainable design principles to gaming tables and other casino products can significantly reduce volumes of waste and decrease use of natural resources. All of their manufacturing is done in a 100% green building, i.e.-no gas run-off, or chemical run-off. All materials used are FSC certified, recycled or reclaimed. Their casino gaming chairs feature an ergonomic design that provides ultimate comfort for extended playing sessions. The chairs are extra sturdy so they stand up to the rigors of the casino environment and are 100% Eco-friendly and earn points toward LEED certification.

EGM Green helps its corporate clients show their dedication to helping the environment. The company consultants, including Josh Dorfman, author and host of the Lazy Environmentalist from 11am -noon EST on Sirius Satellite Radio channel 114, take care of the entire process of making a gaming area Eco-friendly.

Executive Gaming Monthly is known for their casino gaming products as well as being the internet's only Casino Game of the Month Club. They offer everything from poker tables to cigar humidors as well as having an exclusive contract with HBO to license Soprano's poker chip sets, and other branded products.

EGM allows and encourages you to 'Bring the Casino Home' through their casino game of the month club, casino game supplies and casino game packages. Now, through EGM Green, casinos are able to bring luxury and Eco-conscious furniture to their resorts.

"This is not only great for the planet, but it is also a viable business model and a market leader in the green casino industry," said EGM President Eric Hansel.

Make your world green from the inside out! EGM Green can help customize your casino, hotel, spa or home with environmentally friendly furniture. Furniture can be designed and manufactured specifically for your project. EGM Green can assist you in developing a plan for your environment then detailing a custom plan and budget for your specific needs. You can purchase EGM Green furniture on their website: <http://www.egmgreen.com/index.html>

Come see what EGM Green has to offer at the Global Gaming Expo (G2E) at booth #728 November 13th - 16th in the Las Vegas Convention Center. Come meet and greet professional poker player Jeff Madsen, and hear EGM Green's LEED Architect, John Krause, speak during the session "Going Green while Staying in the Black".
