Daily.co.uk gives a 30% discount on web hosting to all transfer customers.

PR9.NET November 27, 2007 - London, UK - UK Domain name and web hosting provider Daily.co.uk (<http://www.daily.co.uk>) is offering a 30% discount to all customers transferring their domain and web hosting to Daily.co.uk. This is a direct response to all customers that have suffered severe web hosting outages in recent days

Daily.co.uk (<http://www.daily.co.uk>) web hosting have built a name for being reliable, offering services at some of the most cost effective prices in the UK. On top of that the phone and email support are winning customer plaudits in abundance.

Commenting today, Daily.co.uk MD Abby Haroon said: "Over the last few weeks or so there have been a lot of unhappy website owners and domain name professionals. Some of the best known companies have lost the trust of their most faithful customers. We want it to be really easy for everyone to make the break, and try the next generation of domain name and web hosting services. That's why we're giving everyone who transfers in a whopping 30% discount!"

Daily.co.uk have five web hosting packages to choose from, plus three popular Reseller hosting options. Prices start at just £1.59 a month, and customers get huge webspace and traffic allowances, 75 mailboxes with full AntiVirus & AntiSpam, and free DailyDrive online storage and PC back up. Support is just a phone call away, and all calls get answered in 4 rings.
