PR9.NET December 04, 2007 - Westboro, MA - An organizer of virtual-based trade shows ArriveNews.com announced today it will include a special exposition to be held during the American Industrial Supply Show (AISS) to connect manufacturers, suppliers, buyers and end-users of industrial chemicals, adhesives and chemical materials. According to a company spokesperson the on-line event has been established to promote primarily U.S. and Canadian manufacturers and distributors of industrial products in front of an international audience of engineers, plant maintenance professionals and other industrial buyers.

The types of chemicals, adhesives and materials to be showcased at AISS include hot melt glue, epoxies, industrial chemicals, sealants, paint and coatings, alumina, binders, bonding agents, borax, disinfectants, boron elements, enamels, finishes, industrial gases, silicon, caustic soda, textile chemicals, raw materials, varnishes, dyes, water treatment chemicals, rubber-to-metal adhesives, cleaning chemicals, epoxy adhesives, biochemicals, custom formulated chemicals and a wide range of associated products.

AISS is expected to be held in the fall of 2008 but the organizer, ArriveNews.com has reported no official date has been set at this time. Additional information on the types of chemicals and adhesives to be exhibited at American Industrial Supply Show is available at <http://arrivenews.com/?p=376>, which includes detailed on participants, exhibitors, sponsors and benefits for those visiting the event.

"The American Industrial Supply Show has the potential to be one of the most popular virtual trade shows on the Web focusing on industrial supplies, equipment and machinery," says Jim Dorsey, leading organizer of the event. He added, "Now that we have added chemicals and adhesives as additional products to be exhibited at the show we expect the event to attract even more industrial and construction professionals."

Donald LaBelle, President and CEO of IndustrialLeaders.com and an official sponsor of AISS, said in a telephone interview with the media, "Even though the American Industrial Supply Show is still in development, we feel such an event can have a significant impact on the industrial marketplace in North America. Primarily because of the show's focus to promote U.S. and Canadian goods to an international audience of engineers and other industrial buyers. But also because of the wide spread global reach virtual trade shows can potentially deliver."
