When it comes to van rental in Ireland, there is only one provider in the market who is able to cater for all needs. The product offered to customers is designed with flexibility in mind; a flexibility which means Thrifty can meet your needs whether they are sort term, long term or involve multiple vehicles.

PR9.NET December 06, 2007 - Dublin, Ireland - No other provider on the Van Rental market in Ireland can match the range, availability and flexibility of the commercial vehicles offered by Thrifty. Access to commercial vehicles by private individuals has traditionally been a difficult task in Ireland. Where Thrifty Van Rental has succeeded is by simplifying the process as much as possible. It is this dedication to providing a quality service that has seen Thrifty become the fastest growing provider in the Irish market.

"We believe that we offer a truly all encompassing service where customers can receive a 'one stop shop' approach to their business requirements giving both the customer and Thrifty, a distinct competitive advantage in the market place." - Jon Jerromes

It is not always the case that people or corporations wish to commit to a three year or other long term deal when they need access commercial vehicles. Often such a route can end up with expensive vehicles being left underused during off peak seasons. The advantage of dealing with Thrifty is that the service we supply can expand and contract as you need it; on a monthly, weekly and even daily basis. Such an option not only involves eradicating depreciation and vehicle management costs, but also reduces capital expenditure and the resulting company exposure. All our vehicles are also provided with motor tax and when required we take care of the DOE and provide replacement vehicles.

The range of vehicles on the Thrifty commercial fleet is second to none with all types of commercial vehicles catered for including car vans, 4x4 (in single and double cab configurations), panel vans and specialty vehicles such as refrigerated units. This impressive range of vehicles is backed up by the dedicated back office support offered by Thrifty Car Rental in all locations nationwide. The expansion of the corporate division means that we can offer a one stop shop for all business and individual requirements on a nationwide basis across Ireland.

"Every company has different transport needs. We try to facilitate their requirements where it is at all possible. There is a solution to every need or problem and we are here to provide that solution for our customers" - Colm Brady

The corporate product offered by Thrifty is aimed at those who do not want to enter a long term lease, but want a quality product with a lot of flexibility included. With locations at Dublin Airport, Dublin City Center, Cork Airport, Cork City and Shannon Airport, Thrifty have the opportunity to provide a nationwide service while also offering extra flexibility to their customers.

When it comes meeting your requirements, no job is too big or small. From Sales Executive cars, to luxury cars, to 4x4's and specialist vehicles we have something to suit everyone. These products are backed up with a wealth of knowledge and expertise behind us we are here to advise and guide clients.
