ForeignTRADEX, an online B2B marketplace for Europe and Australia launches a new magnets and magnetic equipment directory for international industrial buyers.

PR9.NET December 14, 2007 - Westboro, MA - The business-to-business trade portal ForeignTRADEX, publisher of several on-line international buying guides, announced today the release of its new and improved industrial magnets and magnetic assemblies directory promoting primarily European and Australian manufacturers and exporters. According to the company, the new publication serves as a resource for industrial buyers worldwide to locate and compare suppliers of industrial and construction magnets and magnetic components throughout Europe and Australia.

The new directory is available at http://www.ForeignTradeExchange.com/suppliers/magnets\_magnetic\_equipment.html and includes offerings for a wide range of magnetic products such as neodymium and permanent magnets, electro, rare earth, ceramic, electric magnets, heavy lifting, alnico, ndfeb, ferrite, super magnets, flexible, samarium cobalt, alloy, sensor magnets, coated, custom-made industrial magnets, electromagnets, die cut, compression bonded, conveyor magnets, floor sweeping, high energy, high temperature and other types of magnetic products.

The Industrial Magnets Buying Guide includes listings from manufacturers, distributors, exporters and importers in or serving markets throughout Europe, New Zealand and Australia. Including but not limited to Spain, Austria, Ireland, Belgium, Germany, Finland, Ukraine, Portugal, Australia, Denmark, Greece, Netherlands, Russia, Poland, France, Luxembourg, Czech Republic, Turkey, Italy, Romania, Switzerland, Poland, Lithuania, Slovakia, Australia, Slovenia, Hungary, Norway, Sweden, Croatia and United Kingdom.

"Magnets are used extensively by companies in many industries all over the globe and for various industrial, construction and manufacturing applications," says Mark Hamilton, Business Director of ForeignTRADEX. He added, "We realized there was a real need for an industrial magnets buying guide specifically designed to help European manufacturers and construction companies locate the most suitable magnet suppliers in the region."

As a partner of the industrial-focused search engine, <http://www.IndustrialCOOP.com>, Hamilton believes ForeignTRADEX is one of the more specialized B2B trade portals on the Web connecting buyers and suppliers of industrial goods worldwide. "We have published dozens of industrial buying guides over the years and strive to make each one of them the preferred choice for engineers, MRO professionals and other industrial and technical buyers," says Hamilton.
