Market Americae shipped xclusive products and hundreds of holiday cards, candy, food, games, and other entertainment items to a United States ARMY platoon who are currently serving in Iraq.

PR9.NET December 21, 2007 - GREENSBORO, N.C. – Market America, Inc., an Internet Marketing and Product Brokerage company, shipped exclusive Market America products and hundreds of holiday cards, candy, food, games, and other entertainment items to a United States ARMY platoon based in Kuwait at Camp Patriot who are currently serving in Iraq.

Market America sent its Torch™ After Burn and Pre Burn packets to increase energy and support the body with an antioxidant and cardiovascular defense, its Transitions™ CLA (Conjugated Linoleic Acid) products to help maintain weight loss while serving in Iraq, and Awake™ Energy Drinks that provide antioxidant defense, long-lasting energy and mental focus without the effects of high caffeine and sugar.

In addition to Market America products, just a few of the items Market America employees donated were cards with well wishes from employees' children, non-perishable items such as M&M's and Jolly Ranchers, nerf footballs, playing cards, dominoes, crossword puzzles, and magazines.

"It's easy to take for granted the time we get to spend with our family and friends during the holidays," said Marc Ashley, Market America's chief operating officer. "We want to show the troops that we will not forget the sacrifices they and their families are making not only during the holiday season, but every day 365 days a year."

The items were shipped on Friday December 21 to ensure they would arrive by Christmas day. Market America has been sponsoring this particular platoon throughout 2007 and will continue with care-package donations to multiple platoons in 2008.
