During November 2007, www.trpservices.com turns in winning results. During November 2007, Uncle T, of www.trpservices.com, showcased a winning percentage of 79% for his recommendations for thoroughbred horseracing.

PR9.NET December 28, 2007 - Bloomfield Hills, Michigan - "Uncle T's Picks are selected using conventional handicapping methods," said Uncle T, TRP Services President. "I take into consideration the past performance compiled by the Daily Racing Form, including but not limited to Speed Ratings, Beyers, Track Variant, Jockey/Trainer stats, Recent Workouts, Class, Weight, Distance, Breeding, Medication, Equipment (Blinkers, Shadow Roll, Tongue Strap, Shoes) and Post Position."

Each race is annualized separately. There are no electronic graphs, mathematical formula, or "Genie In the Bottle" used to select Uncle T's daily picks. Uncle T's successful predictions combine 55+ years of experience, the aforementioned resources, and his personal paper and memory notations.

"In pursuit of excellence, TRP Services brings members and guests a complete and up front record of all of Uncle T's daily postings - win, lose or draw," he said. "Always check track conditions and late scratches before placing your bet. Do not place your bet until about 30 minutes before post."

Although many programs have been written on the subject of money management for wagering in general, Uncle T recommends this very brief plan to get one started in the right direction. First, set up a bank, consisting of a certain sum of money. Second, your wagers must be consistent, the same amount wagered each and every time. For example, on a $100.00 bank roll, a very safe wager would be 5% or $5.00 a wager. This means you would have to lose 20 consecutive times to deplete your bank, which is unlikely. TRP Services suggests a 10% wager. On Exacta and Trifecta wagering the same principles apply. Uncle T said that it's important to use the same amount each and every time. In addition, a $1.00 box is a great place to start with any exotics.

TRP Services supports responsible gambling, which means seeking and implementing practices to reduce the risk of problem gambling. If you feel strongly compelled to wager on each and every race, or sporting event, help is available through various sources.
