FEECO International heads off to exhibit at Phosphates 2008 in Paris, France.

PR9.NET February 13, 2008 - Green Bay, WI - FEECO International will be traveling to Paris, France to attend the Phosphates 2008 International Conference and Exhibition. This biennial event is the only conference in the industry to cover all 3 major phosphates markets - fertilizers, industrial and feed. Phosphates 2008 will provide delegates an opportunity to hear from industry experts discussing the future direction of phosphate rock, fertilizers, industrial phosphates and feed products as well as a chance to meet suppliers.

FEECO International specializes in designing and building state-of-the-art plants to process manures from a variety of sources (poultry, hog, dairy, sewage) and creating a high value fertilizer pellet. In addition to drying and granulating the material to produce a superior product, their fortification technology enables them to enhance the nutrient value of the product to fit specific fertilizer markets.

FEECO prides itself on being "green" because of their ability to bring value through new ideas and processes based on industry known environmental problems. If you have a waste material or process problem they can solve it and turn it into something profitable.

Meet them in person (exhibit stand #12) and see for yourself how FEECO International Inc. can assist you with your design, processes, equipment or production needs.
