Consumer portal website 1stSedationDentist.com provides local listings of dentists who offer sedation dentistry, as well as a variety of other sleep dentistry resources.

PR9.NET February 24, 2008 - San Francisco, CA - The Internet Dental Alliance announces the re-launch of its consumer information website 1stSedationDentist.com. The website offers patients a variety of sedation dentistry resources. Patients with a dental phobia can find a properly trained sedation dentist, learn more about sleep dentistry, and quickly find sedation dentists in their area by entering their zip code.

Every month the site features one sedation dentist with remarkable expertise in the area of dental sedation. Visitors to the site can email their questions directly to the featured dentist, who will post answers to selected questions. Archived resources allow patients to learn about the different options for anxiety-free dentistry, from oral conscious sedation (OCS) offered by a general dentist to IV sedation administered by a dental anesthesiologist.

Featured on 1stSedationDentist.com are consumer information articles such as "Sedation Dentistry and a Sedation Dentist Can Change Your Life" and "Relieving Dental Anxiety With Pain Free Dentistry" In addition, the site offers clinical articles such as "Use of Laughing Gas (Nitrous Oxide and Oxygen) During Sedation Dentistry Procedures" or "Anxiety-Free Dentistry Can Help Control Pain and Dental Fears." Consumers will also find summaries of recent news stories.

This dental web site offers some insight into dentists' thoughts on sleep dentistry in its survey section, where visitors learn that many dentists offer oral conscious sedation dentistry at their dental practices. The dental website offers additional information on dental anesthesia, deep sedation, and dental fear.

"Looking for a sedation dentist? Look no further than this dental directory website," said Jim Du Molin, director of the Internet Dental Alliance. "It gives you everything you need for pain-free dentistry: information and the ability to quickly find a qualified sleep dentist near you. What more could you want?"

The sedation dental care portal 1stSedationDentist (<http://www.1stSedationDentist.com>) is one of the Internet Dental Alliance's many consumer information website. IDA provides consumer sites in areas such as cosmetic dentistry, orthodontics, and dental implants.
