Written by those who love travelling through Bulgaria, for those who are about to discover it, BulgariaTravelNotes.com is the latest travel blog aiming to inspire travellers and investors heading for Bulgaria. And to turn into a space where people share their experiences and images of Bulgaria and give their advice on how best to enjoy the country.

PR9.NET February 27, 2008 - Rome, Italy – BulgariaTravelNotes.com is created by travellers who describe Bulgaria from their personal point of view and share their inspiration of the country. The latest Bulgaria Travel blog offers a meeting place between those who have travelled or actually live in Bulgaria and those planning to visit the country - where they can meet and share in their own experiences and advices.

"We would like to make Bulgaria Travel Notes one of your most positive experiences on the web, especially if you like traveling or are planning to go to Bulgaria sometime soon." – says Giuseppe Zappala, head of the Bulgarian Travel Notes project "It is all about sharing your positive impressions and that is how we would like to keep it. To offer present day and would be travelers to Bulgaria their own space to tell their stories and describe the places they like in Bulgaria in their own language.

And to those who are interested in the Bulgarian property market, we offer customer experiences and views of other property investors, who have already walked that way."

"We are an international team of Bulgarian travelers" – continues Giuseppe Zappala – "and we give visibility to articles from people from around the world (who would like to share why they like Bulgaria). And we invite people planning to go to Bulgaria come and visit our pages to read about the places they are planning to visit and what other travelers can advise them to see and where to go."

What makes BulgariaTravelNotes.com different from the other travel information sites is the quality of the stories, which travellers share. They are different than the impersonal information one can find on other travel information sites. Written by travellers who might not be professional writers, the readers of the blog have the opportunity to read descriptions of places and advice by their own fellow travellers. And they get the opportunity to travel though different parts of Bulgaria even before they actually go there. And when they come back, to share their own impressions – to inspire others.
