BookPerHead.com, the most solid entity in the Pay Per Head Sportsbook Industry is proud to announce the latest developments for the Bookie Babe Contest 2007-2008.

PR9.NET March 05, 2008 - San Jose, Costa Rica - The highly anticipated final stage for first Bookie Babe Modeling contest has arrived. The modeling competition which began on October 2007 with the first 8 monthly contestants and will wrap up on June 30th 2008 is headed for a spectacular showdown between the past monthly winners, a total of eight gorgeous bikini models from the four corners of the earth. The contest is sponsored by BookPerHead.com, a company dedicated to sports entertainment offshore. Contestants claim the popularity of this one-of-a-kind competition lies on the great opportunity given to hundreds of lovely aspiring models from all over the world to send in their best pictures and catapult their modeling career outside their niche. Throughout these passing months, the number of voters has increased reaching more than 900 internet votes for Februarys' contest alone. Thousands of internet users visit BookPerHead.com's website each month in order to vote for their favorite candidates or send in their own pics to enter. The final winner will be selected by the audience through a final voting round during the month of June 2008.

"We were not expecting such a great response from the public" said Julie Gates, Manager of the marketing team. "Now that the last stage is finally here, the contest has turned into a real phenomenon" she added.

With new features on its website, BookPerHead.com is constantly looking for different ways to improve its services; and as its popularity continues to grow steadily at several clicks per minute, the Bookie Babe contest continues to build expectation as it also receives daily new applications from hundreds of girls looking to enter the contest before it reaches its final stage.

The winner will receive an exotic getaway to the trendiest vacation spot today, the extravagant Costa Rica, home of the BookPerHead.com headquarters. There, the lucky model will be able to visit Costa Ricas' most popular beaches and the world renowned water of the Pacific Ocean all in a few days of natural excitement and adventure trips.
