The experience of Hair Direct hair replacement clients is getting a whole lot better by providing them top of the line hair care products.

PR9.NET March 14, 2008 - Bainbridge, PA - Hair Direct, Inc. is making the experience of their hair replacement clients a whole lot better by now offering them top of the line hair care products. They are now offering the complete line of Jorgen's hairpiece products (<http://www.hairdirect.com/store/Jorgen.aspx>) on their website. Their goal is to make the life of their clients easier.

"At Hair Direct our goal is to always provide our clients with the best possible solutions for their hair replacement needs," says Brandon Andrews, Director of Marketing. "Offering the Jorgen product line on our website just makes sense for everyone."

Jorgen has 21 different products in their line which include shampoos, conditioners, adhesive removers, and other specialty items. These products are also highly affordable as the retail prices range anywhere from $5 to $15. The products are liquid based and all are sold in 8oz bottle sizes.

One of the more common places to find these products is at standard retail hair replacement salons, but Hair Direct wanted to make the life of their clients much simpler so they could purchase these products on their website when they also purchase their hair replacement systems.

Jorgen products are manufactured and owned by a Florida based company called "On Rite". The company also carries two other main product lines, and in their 19 years of being in business they have long been a major hairpiece distributor.

The products can be conveniently purchased online at <http://www.hairdirect.com/store/Jorgen.aspx>.
