Many product reviewers say Spear's new album "Blackout" is her best album.

PR9.NET March 20, 2008 - Dallas, Texas - Despite the recent hardships of female popstar Britney Spears many album reviewers have given her latest album "Blackout" a two thumbs up. Since the release of her new album on October 30, 2007 it has gotten a 4 out of 5 star rating out of about 367 reviews on the new online retailer site OOhStuf.Com. According to OOhStuf.Com owner Andre Braddox some reviewers say that this is her best album with comments such as:

"A scintillating, effervescent slice of post-millennium pop."

"All of the songs on this album are amazing."

"Britney Spears has grown up and produced a fabulous, trendy, sexy, lively album. This is by far the best, most original work she has done to date."

"Fantastic album! Her best by far. It's sexy and mysterious and grown up and honest. Even though I love her other albums, "Blackout" makes them seem so babyish and dated. Her music has evolved. I hope Britney gets rid of her personal troubles soon because I think she has a lot more to offer the music scene."

Britney Spears released the first single off the album entitled "Gimme More" which she performed at the 2007 MTV Video Music Awards. Despite less than favorable media reports on her performance and other events in her life her album appears to be flourishing among album reviewers at OOhStuf.Com.
