London based lighting wholesalers Sparks Direct have launched a new range of affordable mirror demister pads to help keep bathroom mirrors steam free and crystal clear.

PR9.NET March 28, 2008 - London, UK - Sparks Direct are renowned for being at the forefront of the lighting and electrical wholesale industry, being the supplier of choice for many architects and interior designers because of their expert advice service, their cost effective prices and the fact that they offer the UK's widest selection of lighting and electrical solutions.

Now, as well as ensuring bathroom's are beautifully lit with their range of bespoke bathroom lighting ranges, Sparks are launching specially designed mirror demister pads to keep bathroom mirrors staying steam free and crystal clear.

The simplicity to install mirror demister pads guarantee mist free mirrors even in the steamiest of bathrooms. This means no more waiting for the mist to clear before shaving, drying hair or putting on make-up.

Managing Director of Sparks Direct, Nick Cohen comments "The launch of this new range of mirror demister pads illustrates Spark's dedication to providing our customers with innovative lifestyle improving solutions, be it clever lighting designs to electrical ranges such as this."

"Also, this handy solution for the bathroom couldn't be easier to install on any bathroom mirror. Simply remove the paper backing and adhere to the selected mirror as simple as double sided tape. Then connect to the power supply, hang the mirror and enjoy a mist free reflection."

Mirror Demister pads are available in a range of sizes to suit different needs and come supplied with a 1m cable as standard. To heat large mirrors a combination of them can be used.
