PR9.NET April 14, 2008 - New York, NY - En Sound Entertainment has been a staple in the Gospel community delivering excellence to its supporters for eight years; providing interviews, music reviews, articles, Internet marketing and promotions and more. Today marks a new beginning with this God-sent ministry that caters to the independent Gospel music community with the formation of the En Sound Radio Network (ESRN), a new 24 hour service consisting of two Internet radio stations: En Sound Radio and Caribbean Gospel Surf (WCGS).

En Sound Radio is one of the most innovative radio stations on the net with the most comprehensive listing of gospel music catering to American Gospel music lovers, the station is also listed in the iTunes radio directory and has been in operations for 6 years. The station also features music (holy hip hop, Traditional, Rhythm & Praise, Praise & Worship), many great interviews from some of today's finest recording artists (signed and unsigned) and people who are making a difference in their communities across the country.

Caribbean Gospel Surf is the only Caribbean Gospel music station listed in the iTunes radio directory. It caters to the African and Caribbean Gospel music that is not normally heard on American radio stations. Since re-launching the station in January 2008, WCGS has received over half million visitors to its website and thousands of listeners who have tuned in from 64 countries around the globe to date.

Owner/CEO Delroy Soud n, states that "having a network that caters mainly to independent Gospel artists is vital to the American, African and Caribbean Christian communities, as there are so many artists who do not have an outlet for them to showcase their music outside of the four walls of the church. The En Sound Radio Network is for independent artists built by an independent artist, so I stand tall and proud to be doing this and helping to make a difference in the lives of our artists and supporters alike with good, wholesome, Christ-centered music."

Independent Gospel artists are encouraged to support this network by making a donation to help with our operational costs. They are also encouraged to send their music to us for airplay consideration. We are also interested in Teaching ministry, Talk Shows, motivational and health education programs.
