

Mottle.net Launches First People Wiki Search Engine

Mottle.net, May 18, 2008

URL: <http://www.pr9.net/comp/internet/8146may.html>

One Stop to Find, Connect with, and Verify People. The First Search Engine That Combines The Features Of Facebook, Wikipedia, and Google.

PR9.NET May 18, 2008 - Bethpage, New York: Mottle.net, a collaborative social networking website, will launch June 1, 2008, said co-founder Nathan Hallford.

Traditional social networking sites allow users to add profiles about themselves which are solely under their control. This makes it difficult to verify data and creates a segmented experience. Mottle.net offers a different approach: users can discuss and edit each others' information as the first Wiki social networking site.

Because of this, Mottle.net is community-oriented and provides important peer review features absent on other sites. Mottle allows users to get a truer picture of the people they interact with on the site.

Mottle.net Co-Founder Nathan Hallford commented that Mottle fights segmentation of data. "Profiles have traditionally been the domain of the individual, but Mottle expands the focus to be truly community-oriented."

Log on to Mottle.net today to be notified of the release.

###

About Mottle.net

Tell your story. Share your friend's stories. No more searching through hundreds of unrelated search pages. No more time wasted trolling through too many social networking sites. Need to find them? Mottle them! Want to represent yourself? Share your story by updating your profile. Give your friends recognition by backing them up on their profiles. Reveal the true you. Find the truth about them.

Phone:	6319499142
Website:	http://www.mottle.net
E-Mail:	seo@mottle.net
Address:	P.O. Box 552 Hicksville NY 11801

---

PR9.NET - Your Free Press Release Service