Building on the thousands of wedding postage stamps created for brides in the past year, ArtisticPostage.com introduced new lines of stamps for brides in special categories.

PR9.NET May 18, 2008 - Boston, MA - In what could be called a niche within a niche, ArtisticPostage.com has introduced specific types of postal wedding stamps. Covered types include military wedding stamps, destination wedding stamps, monthly wedding stamps, and Asian-inspired wedding stamps.

Military brides and planners of military weddings now have more options than ever when it comes to choosing the best photo stamps for their invitations. ArtisticPostage.com offers a collection of military wedding stamps and flag stamps featuring heart designs with wedding wording and phrases such as "RSVP," "I Do," and "American Sweethearts" that will make any invitation stand out.

Stamp designer TDSwhite says, "Wedding planning is very complicated. The last thing any bride wants to do, especially one who may be thousands of miles away from home and family support, is worry that she can't find the right stamp to make her wedding invitation package perfect -- especially because an invitation is the first thing a guest sees in relation to the wedding. At ArtisticPostage.com, brides can relax and quickly find the postage stamps they want."

Destination weddings (to places such as Las Vegas, Hawaii, and other tropical locations) account for about 150,000 weddings per year. These special weddings involve special postage. Stamps in the destination wedding category include a Bermuda sunset, a lucky slot machine with wedding images, Niagara Falls, and several variations with palm trees.

When many brides decide upon their wedding dates, the first thing they imagine is the particular month of the year. TDSwhite created a line of postage stamps with the name of each month and the coloring of that month's corresponding birthstone. Stamps with coordinating colors and appropriate phrases such as "Thank You" and "Our Special Day" complement the line. There are also blank stamps with the same color coordinated backgrounds which make it simple for brides to customize their own line of matching stamps if they desire. Also, each month, TDSwhite adds to the line by making month-specific variations of his other general best sellers.

Finally, to serve the growing market for authentic Asian weddings as well as Asian-inspired theme weddings, TDSwhite produced a line of stamps with Asian characters such as those meaning "love" and "marriage" in addition to the well known Yin and Yang symbol. The Asian wedding postage stamps utilize traditionally appropriate colors such as red and jade.
