

Intrannuity and jbilling Partner for Easier Financial System Integration

Intrannuity, June 11, 2008

URL: <http://www.pr9.net/business/ecommerce/8383june.html>

This month, Intrannuity released a plug-in for jbilling, which enables users to easily extend jbilling with the capabilities of the Intrannuity processing engine. It is distributed freely through jbilling.com.

PR9.NET June 11, 2008 - Columbus, Georgia - Intrannuity announced today the release of a new plug-in for the popular software application, jbilling. This plug-in allows current users of jbilling to process electronic transactions through the Intrannuity gateway and also to take advantage of Intrannuity's accounts receivable management system.

jbilling is a widely-used open-source, web-based financial-management software that is free and professionally supported.

Payment processing is a complicated and ever-evolving industry, where terms are often used differently, depending on the situation. The information provided by Intrannuity serves as an overview of the process, players, and costs involved in accepting electronic payments. It certainly isn't exhaustive, but rather provides a foundation for additional research. It is our hope that by educating organizations on the intricacies of the payment industry, they are able to make better decision and more quickly find their solution.

For further information, please see www.intrannuity.com/

###

About Intrannuity

Intrannuity is a leading provider of e-transaction middleware and accounts receivable management solutions. Intrannuity was founded in 2000 and is a privately held company located in Columbus, GA. Beyond standard electronic payment transactions, Intrannuity provides subscription and recurring billing solutions, as well as, value-added A/R management services to member and donor centric organizations that utilize recurring payments.

www.intrannuity.com

Phone: (706)662-5902
Website: <http://www.intrannuity.com>
E-Mail: ssaucier@intrannuity.com