PR9.NET July 15, 2008 - RM, United Kingdom - Great Pinoy Limited is bringing people together on their site greatpinoy.com where Filipino friends can do their social networking or anyone with an interest in the Philippines. A place where there are free classified ads to buy and sell items, live chats, and there is the ability to upload videos. Truly a place for pinoy and the pinay alike who are social networking to enhance their business, meet new friends and when business is over and its time for play there are live chats, a game arcade, polls and quizzes. There is also the ability to check out MP3 and video along with photo uploading.

The website Greatpinoy.com is owned and operated by Great Pinoy Limited, which is registered in England and Wales, the site is involved with several Philippines charities and they support these charities to the extent that when new members join for their services Great Pinoy Limited make a 10 pesos donation to the charities. The best part of this donation is that it is not taken from the newly joined member but Greatpinoy.com donates it to the charity.

This is a community for greatpinoy members to find items in the classifieds like a pre-owned Kalookan, jeppneys or anything else Filipino, it can be found in the classified ads.

The site is a meeting place for networking Philippines and it does not matter where they live if it Manila, or elsewhere they can use this site to enhance their business connections. It is a place where mabuhay is the theme of the site and to prove this there are not only the business and networking options but there is also the Pilipinas entertainment part of the site and forums where discussions of all types can be found.

This is a site with all the different advantages that will be an asset to Phils and other members to come together for work and play on the Internet at Greatpinoy.com. As it is a site that networking as well as entertainment is to be taken advantage of by the members. Along with polls, quizzes and other items that are featured on the website that Filipinos should expect to find in a website that is a community.

For the person that is seeking a place to have their business grow this site offers that advantage making it a place to meet other business people in one place along with the forums that offer advice and allow placing new topics to discuss.

Unlike other communities on the Internet this community is geared toward Philipinos who are business minded and want to see their business grow. At the same time they have the opportunity to mix with like minded people and forge new friendships for both business and pleasure.

The <http://www.greatpinoy.com> site appears to be an active and well rounded community for those looking to work and play at the same website and with the same people.
