Under the Microsoft Partner Program, Truelogic Software Solutions, a global custom software development solutions provider, has attained Certified Partner Status with competency in Custom Development Solutions. With access to crucial Microsoft tools and resources, Truelogic continues improving its core processes and business strategies.

PR9.NET July 21, 2008 - Buenos Aires, Argentina – Truelogic Software Solutions, a global software development company providing high tech solutions to enterprises worldwide, has announced that it has attained Certified Status in the Microsoft Corporation's Partner Program.

Microsoft Certified Partners are companies that provide the highest levels of technical expertise, strategic thinking, customer service and also represent a positive impact and contribution to the technology market. With access to crucial tools and resources, being a Microsoft Certified Partner helps Truelogic to continue improving its core processes and business strategies.

Truelogic has been developing software with Microsoft technologies for a number of years, but becoming a Certified Partner was an extra step in further aligning their marketing and software development to Microsoft. Truelogic's CTO, Martin Kornblum, adds, "It definitely makes sense for Truelogic to be aligned with Microsoft since almost 70% of our software development solutions are developed with Microsoft technologies. But beyond that, this step to becoming a Microsoft Certified Partner is exciting for us as the partnership offers us new opportunities to optimize our use of Microsoft technologies, particularly with Sharepoint and Dynamics systems as well as all versions of .NET.

The Microsoft Partner Program was launched in October 2003 and represents Microsoft's ongoing commitment to the success of partners worldwide. The program offers a single, integrated partnering framework that recognizes partner expertise, and the overall impact that partners have in the technology marketplace. Moreover, the program aims to add value to help its partners in providing successful services and solutions.
